

Dear Sir or Maa'm,I enjoy my satellite radio and I dont mind paying a few dollars per month to have clear reception, enjoyable programming, variety, etc. I dont understand why XM is coming under fire with the FCC. XM is a choice, no one is forced to pay for it if they dont want it. I dont mind paying for things I enjoy and there are more serious things happening worldwide that need attention more than just XM or Sirrius radio. Remember that no one is paying for this unless they want to. What will be next???? My satellite dish at home??? I choose to have it, but XM is no where near as expensive as that is. Maybe you should look into that.
Thank you for your time.
